

Hip Resurfacing Arthroplasty Package

HK$283,170<sup>Up</sup>

Ceramic hip resurfacing provides younger, or more active patients with hip arthritis an effective treatment option that supports a return to an active lifestyle, including sports and leisure activities.

The use of highly advanced, toughened all ceramic implants eliminates the risk of metal-related adverse reactions, offering a more durable solution. As the technique preserves more of the patient's natural bone, it also helps maintain future surgical options should further treatment be needed later in life.

The procedure is performed by specially trained surgeons with expertise in advanced resurfacing techniques.
